

ORIGINAL
DECKING

April 2013 : A pearl in the 'Oyster'

To all those who are considering to build a deck

My name is Chris Moyer I work as a realestate agent selling luxury properties on the northern Gold Coast, particularly sovereign islands.

In feb 2012 I bought a block of land in Oyster Cove and decided to get my first home ever built.

After going through the building process with Palladio Homes which I was happy with, I needed to get a nice large deck built around my pool.

Having never built a deck before I started looking at deck builders online. Original Decking was the first company I contacted. The owner came out, was professional and gave me a quote and answered my questions.

Of course I was very budget conscious, so I hunted around to see what other deck builders could do for price. I had six different companies come to quote my deck. Some were unprofessional and didn't even turn up for appointments. Some of the quotes were 15-20 percent higher than Original Decking for the exact same thing.

Some of the companies / builders said they could do it for 20-30 % less, but I could tell it was a trap....I was either going to get hit with hidden fees or get a crappy deck with corners cut. Two things I didn't want.

In the end I chose Original Decking because I perceived them to be experts in deck building, everything was upfront and answered and the price was fair, I also heard good things about them from other companies.

Once my deck was started, the builders were polite, friendly and on time. They even took the time to make sure I was happy with my deck and it looked how I wanted.

My deck was just finished and it looks exactly how I wanted it.

I have no problem recommending original decking to anyone.

If you have any questions about my experience feel free to contact me.
